Baruch Calls for Work, Fight Act for Men, Women

Man Is Killed When Attacked by Bees

Chatham, June 26 — A swarm of bees which he had been asked to remove from a tree, attacked Clarence Felpel, 34, of the village of Ghent, near here Wednesday, inflicting injuries which resulted in his death.

Felpel died en route to the Community Hospital here shortly after the bees swarmed upon him. The bees were on the property of Walter Bryant where Felpel was engaged in mowing the lawn.

Emergency treatment was administered by Dr. Edward F. Urba of Kinderhook who was summoned by Felpel's employer after he had heard him cry for help. Felpel was unconscious when the physician arrived. Coroner Clifford Leggett withheld his verdict pending an investigation.

Declares He Sees No War With Russia as 'Immediate Threat,' Universal Training Cited as Necessary

Washington, June 26 (AP)—Bernard M. Baruch called today for a "work or fight" law applicable to men and women alike as one of the "minimum" essentials to mobilizing America's "full might" in the event of a future war.

The white haired adviser to presidents in two world conflicts declared, however, that while this country faces a future that is "unrestful" it is "not alarming."

"I see no war with Russia as an immediate threat," he asserted in an address read before the graduating class of the Armed Forces' Industrial College.

But Baruch cautioned that "with the new instrumentalities of mass destruction, we will not have time to improvise" should war come again.

Accordingly, he said, this country must be ready to mobilize its full might, "militarily, economically and spiritually."

Lucius Boomer, 68, Waldorf Director, Is Dead in Norway

Noted Hotel Figure Suffers Heart Attack; Was Poughkeepsie Native; Two Survive

Oslo, Norway, June 26 (AP)—Director Lucius Boomer of New York's Waldorf Astoria Hotel died of heart failure at Hamar Thursday, Oddvar Roest, editor of Hamar Arbeiderblad, said today.

Boomer was en route to the Gudbrandsdal Valley where he intended to spend the summer with his Norwegian born wife and their daughter.

Boomer, 68, earned an almost legendary reputation in his capacity of director of the Waldorf. He greeted and became acquainted with hundreds of noted persons who were guests at the hotel.

During the conference of foreign ministers held at the Waldorf last year, the Boomers gave up their apartment in the Waldorf in order to accommodate the visiting ministers of state and their staffs.

Boomer, a native of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., entered the hotel field with the Flager system in Florida around the turn of the century. In 1907 he moved to the Plaza Hotel in New York when it opened as an assistant to the managing director.

From 1912 to 1922 he was in charge of the Hotel McAlpin in New York and while there was a pioneer in the field of scientific operation of large hotels.

During World War I Boomer went to Paris where he organized and operated the Hotel Du Louvre for army officers.

With Coleman duPont, Boomer became interested in the old Waldorf-Astoria after the death of its founder, George C. Boldt. Two years after their acquisition of the original Waldorf, in 1915, Boomer joined in the purchase of the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel in Philadelphia.

Later he extended his interests to the Willard Hotel in Washington, D.C., and the Windsor Hotel in Montreal. He was made president of the company formed to operate the Sherry-Netherlands in New York and opened that hotel in 1927.

In 1920, on the retirement of Louis Sherry, Boomer became the directing head of the Louis Sherry chocolate and ice cream business. He also was named president of the Savatins, Inc.—a chain restaurant operation.

After the closing of the old Waldorf he visualized a modern, larger structure, and was one of the leaders in the move to the present structure at Park Avenue and 49th street in New York which opened its doors in 1931.

He was president and chief executive of the Waldorf until 1935 when he was elected chairman of the board.

In 1933 and 1934 he was appointed by a federal court to advise and assist the receivers in the operation of the Stevens Hotel in Chicago.

On Sept. 11, 1920, he married Josephine Slettedal of Norway. They made their home at the Waldorf in New York.

C.I.O. Asks Congress Act To Prevent 'Collapse'

Washington, June 26 (AP)—The C.I.O. asked Congress today for immediate action to prevent "collapse of our economy."

It declared that thus far "there has not been a single step" to check rising living costs.

Instead, C.I.O. contended, Congress has "worked in the opposite direction."

The labor organization urged immediate creation of a federal investigation board with the job of shedding light "upon the unvarnished levels of many prices." It said that "by the use of public pressure and exposure of profiteering, we may be able to force lower prices."

And, the C.I.O. added, if "increased foreign demands (for food, clothing and machinery) and crop failure continue * * * this will require that we re-establish price control and a rationing program."

The C.I.O. blast was laid down by Earl Rieve, a C.I.O. vice president, in a statement prepared for the joint congressional committee on President Truman's economic report. This group, which also came in for sharp criticism by Rieve, is studying suggestions on how to stabilize the nation's economy.

Rieve reviewed "trends in our economy" which he said are "steps on the road to collapse." He cited "high prices, exorbitant profits, liquidation on savings by low income individuals, the shift to consumer loans, and the reduced purchasing power of the mass of American consumers." He added: "Whether the collapse comes within a period of six months or in a shorter or longer period of time cannot be predicted with any degree of accuracy."

Lawmakers Split Over J. L. Lewis

Hartley Says UMW Head Rebellious, Mutinous Citizen; Asks New Part in Law

Favors Concession Landis Thinks Owners Ought to Yield to Avert Strike

Washington, June 26 (AP)—The No. 1 and No. 2 framers of the Taft-Hartley Labor Law in the House split sharply today over how to cope with John L. Lewis and the growing soft coal stoppage.

Rep. Hartley (R-N.J.), co-sponsor of the Act placed on the books last Monday over President Truman's veto, lashed out at Lewis as a "rebellious and mutinous citizen."

"He called for adding a whole new section to the law to deal with Lewis and the 'challenge' of other union leaders."

On the other hand, Rep. Landis (R-Ind.), second in command on the House Labor Committee and a former miner, said he thinks the soft coal operators ought to "give in" to some of Lewis' contract demands in order to remove the threat of a full-dressed strike July 8.

That is the day the miners are due back at work after their 10-day vacation. This begins tomorrow midnight, but more than 200,000 have left work ahead of time. The vacation, plus a $100 cash payment, is called for under the government's contract with Lewis and his United Mine Workers.

However, the government's authority to operate the sixed mines runs out next Monday, and with it the contract under which the pits have been operating since May, 1946.

Lewis' 400,000 soft coal diggers don't work without a contract. Negotiators for the industry in the north and west, representing 75 per cent of the bituminous output, appeared to be trying to revive the contract talks which were broken off about the time Congress sent the Taft-Hartley bill to Mr. Truman.

Mrs. Cote Pleads To Manslaughter Murder Trial Ends When Woman Acknowledges Her Guilt

Plymouth, Mass., June 26 (AP)—Mrs. Bertha Surprise Cote today pleaded guilty to manslaughter, bringing to a dramatic end the comely 28-year-old widow's trial for murder in the Yuletide blood-slaying of her husband, Rene, 34.

The plea was accepted by the court immediately after the opening of the day's session when Assistant District Attorney John R. Whentley told Judge Felix Forte: "I understand the defendant desires to plead guilty to so much of the indictment as charges manslaughter."

Chief Defense Counsel Eben G. Townes, in a plea for leniency, said "there was nothing more I could do. I couldn't gamble with a girl's life."

When asked to plead Mrs. Cote stood and in a firm voice said: "guilty."

As the court then recognized Defense Counsel Eben G. Townes, the lawyer rose and addressing the judge, said the manslaughter plea was "the most momentous decision that ever confronted me."

Fixing Size of World Police One of Major U.N. Problems

BY MAX HARRELSON
Lake Success, June 26 (AP)—The United Nations Military Staff Committee prepared today to tackle the most difficult problem in its year of deliberations—producing by Monday an estimate of the initial size of the global police force needed to preserve world peace.

The Big Five generals and admirals were handed this task last night by the Security Council, which asked that it give at least a tentative figure by 3 p. m. (E.D.T.) Monday, if possible.

In view of Russia's reluctance in the past to produce specific figures on any phase of the committee's planning, it appeared extremely doubtful that the military group would arrive at unanimous agreement. It was expected, however, that the council would get

Curley Must Serve Prison Term, Is Proctor's Order

Mail Fraud Sentence Is Upheld by Judge in Washington; Allows No Statement

Washington, June 26 (AP)—Judge James M. Proctor refused today to suspend Boston Mayor James M. Curley's mail fraud sentence and ordered that Curley begin serving the six to 18 months in prison immediately.

The 72-year-old mayor, who had asked for a suspension on grounds of ill health, rose from his seat and cried out:

"You are sentencing me to die."

Adamantly, the judge refused to allow Curley even a few days to handle some pending city matters.

He said Curley can take up such things as that "with his keepers."

From the U.S. court room hearing, the mayor was taken by the U.S. marshal to his office for necessary procedure before he is actually placed in a jail cell.

It has not been determined where Curley will serve his sentence. That will be decided by the district attorney and the prison bureau.

Defense attorneys told the court that a jail sentence at this time might well have a "fatal termination," but Proctor was unmoved.

Curley's attorneys asked that the mayor be permitted to say a few words to the court.

The judge declined their request, saying, "I do not think any good purpose would be served by further statement to this court."

Curley's attorneys had asked for suspension of the sentence on grounds that he is in a "most serious and precarious physical condition." He left a Massachusetts hospital to come here and appear in court.

Proctor said that he had read the plea and affidavits attesting to Curley's ill health, but made no comment in the court room upon them.

"I will shortly file a memorandum to state my reasons for denying petitions for suspension," he announced.

Curley arrived in the court room 15 minutes before the hour the judge had set for announcing his decision. His wife and daughter were with him.

Mary, the daughter, and Mrs. Curley half supported the mayor as he came in. He wore dark glasses and walked very slowly to the front row of spectator benches.

Defense attorneys and Judge Proctor, who pronounced the original sentence 18 months ago, were in conference in chambers until 11 o'clock, an hour after the case was called.

The mayor and his family sat patiently in the court room until 10:25 when Curley was taken to a nearby jury room to rest. He returned just before the judge took his seat, followed by his wife who evidently had been weeping.

Curley's attorney, James Leahy, told the court he had filed the petition for suspension of the jail sentence in "utmost sincerity, and in protection of his client's life."

He said he wished to reply to "loose tongues" on the street already.

Names Are Withdrawn
Washington, June 26 (AP)—President Truman today withdrew the names of 103 persons nominated during the present session of Congress for postmasterships in various parts of the country. The White House announcement did not list the names. The White House explained that because of declining receipts in these offices the postmasterships involved are all being reduced to fourth class status July 1. Postmasters of the fourth class offices are not presidential appointees. The nominations involve 32 states and Puerto Rico. Many of the appointees are women.

Historic Call Completed
New York, June 26 (AP)—City Council President Vincent R. Impellitteri climbed into a car outside city hall today, picked up a telephone, and casually chatted for five minutes with the United States ambassador to Italy, James C. Dunn, who spoke from another automobile in Milan. It was the first auto-to-auto transatlantic telephone conversation and commemorated Marconi Day. Dunn and Impellitteri exchanged greetings for the peoples of New York city and Italy.

Couple Was Fishing, Is Story Told

Coroner Arthur Chipp Withholds Verdict; Body Recovered by State Police

Married 8 Months Couple Came From Long Island to Work at Wawarsing

Fishing with her husband near the Port Ben bridge early this morning, Mrs. Theodore Maier, 33, waitress at the Jefferson Hotel, Wawarsing apparently drowned in 14 feet of water, State Police said after recovering her body from the Rondout creek five hours later.

Coroner Arthur Chipp of Kerhonkson refrained from giving a verdict until after an autopsy, which he ordered performed on the body.

Mrs. Maier, formerly Katherine Steininger, and her husband, 43, a chef at the Jefferson, live at 3264 30th street, Astoria, L. I. They had joined the hotel staff a month ago for the summer season. They had been married only eight months.

According to Mr. Maier, an ardent fisherman, he and his wife arose at 4:20 a. m. and headed for the Port Ben bridge section to angle for trout.

He told State Troopers Catalano of the B.C.I. and Raymond Dunn that they decided to fish at separate points along the creek after their lines became entangled, and that his wife chose a spot about 400 yards downstream from him at 5 o'clock, informing him as she left that in case she caught a fish she'd yell.

Called Wife Screamed

It was about 5:30 that he heard her scream, according to what he told the troopers, and, thinking she had hooked a trout, went to assist her. She had never removed a fish from a line, he added.

Silence followed the outcry and the woman was not on the bank of the creek when her husband reached the point where she had been fishing.

Called for Help
Mr. Maier called for help as he moved along the water's edge, finally observing his wife's corpse in the water. The tip of it was sticking up, he said.

A Mrs. Puff, who resides nearby, heard the call for help, and started the alarm that brought Troopers Catalano and Dunn. They grappled from a boat all morning and brought the body up about 10 o'clock.

One theory was that Mrs. Maier had been standing on the trunk of a fallen tree and either became excited or lost her balance in eagerness to make a catch.

Besides the investigation of the troopers and Coroner Chipp, District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn is working on the case.

More Than 262,000 Are Idle in U.S.; Wages Are Point

Not All Those Idle Are Out in Protest Over Labor Law; Ship Workers Quit

(By The Associated Press)
Work stoppages in the nation's coal fields in protest against the new labor bill and a strike at 10 east coast shipyards in a dispute over wages boosted to more than 262,000 the number made idle today.

Curtailed operations in steel mills and railroads and other continuing industries resulted in layoffs of an unestimated number of workers.

More than half of the country's 400,000 soft coal miners—an estimated 222,000—were away from their jobs, most of them in protest against the Hartley-Taft labor law. Others said they were jumping the gun on the 10-day mine vacation which starts at midnight Friday.

More than 40,000 repair and construction workers in 10 east coast shipyards, one of them owned by the Bethlehem Steel Company, went on strike today, halting work on more than 60 vessels. The walkout at the Bethlehem yards started at 12:01 a. m. (E.S.T.) Thursday while the strike against the Hartley-Taft labor law, others said they were jumping the gun on the 10-day mine vacation which starts at midnight Friday.

The strike affects workers in the New York port area at two yards in Brooklyn, one in Staten Island, one in Hoboken, N. J., and at yards in Quincy, Mass., East Boston, Mass., Baltimore and Sparrow's Point, Md.

There were 70,700 miners idle in Pennsylvania and all of Alabama's 20,000 miners were away from their jobs. The number not working in other coal producing states included nearly 49,000 in West Virginia; 35,000 in Kentucky; 18,000 in Illinois; 11,000 in Virginia; 10,933 in Ohio; 6,721 in Indiana; 5,600 in Tennessee; 2,000 in Utah, and 184 in Colorado. Most of them were members of the A.F.L.-United Mine Workers.

In other labor developments the C.I.O.-United Auto Workers in Detroit summoned its executive board to a meeting Tuesday to decide on a policy in the strike of Ford foremen.

In St. Louis, Mayor Aloys P. Kaufmann said he would urge the Missouri State Legislature to re-convene and pass legislation to restore the city's transportation, which has been paralyzed for two weeks by a strike. A similar strike in Oakland, Calif., was in its third week with no immediate

Republicans Hold Big Meeting in Port Ewen Hall

Guest speakers at a highly enthusiastic meeting of the recently organized Republican Club of the Town of Esopus, Tuesday night in the town hall in Port Ewen, were County Attorney Fred Stang and Attorney Vincent C. Connelly, chairman of the Republican party in Kingston, who addressed a gathering of more than 150 men and women.

Attorney Stang congratulated the group in their efforts to combat the apathy and indifference to governmental affairs, which he said was so characteristic of American life, and exhorted them to interest all their fellow citizens of the town in participating in political life. He stressed the point that everybody should exercise the privilege of voting.

Praising America's two-party system Attorney Connelly urged all to take an interest in their government and political life. He pointed out that the club is an important medium for the promotion of democracy.

Lauding the management of the town of Esopus and the county of Ulster, the speaker stated that Republicans may well be proud of their record which sparkles with sound, constructive government resulting from the efforts of Supreme Court Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth, former supervisor of Esopus, for several terms, also Raymond Howe and John Groves.

The next meeting will be held in July, and a special committee is working to make sure that all sections of the town are represented. After last night's business session, there was a special quiz program conducted by Reuben Guilian, with two teams made up of eight people each, and refreshments were served.

Committees announced at the meeting included Mrs. John O. Beaver, Mrs. Raymond Howe, Mrs.

Francis, Palen and Mrs. Howard Markie, refreshments; Henry Cameron, Raymond Howe and Reuben Guilian, publicity.

Ulster Greene Scouts Plan Camp Dedication Sunday

Key-Bee Lake, which was presented to scouts of Ulster-Greene counties by the Knaust Brothers, will be formally dedicated in honor of Herman and Henry Knaust at Camp Tri-Mount, East Jewett, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

This affair will be in the form of a family box picnic and coffee will be furnished by the council. It will be open house for the public.

The Rev. A. A. Donoghue, formerly of Saugerties, will give the benediction. The Rev. LaRoy Deitch of West Camp will present a brief history of the Knaust Brothers. Attorney Roger H. Loughran of Hurley will give the dedicatory address and a scout will express the appreciation of the group to the Knaust Brothers for their gift. Registrations thus far received at headquarters indicate that there will be three and possibly four times as many scouts using the camp this summer as last year. A well-trained staff already has been employed.

50-Pound Car in Osaka
Osaka, Japan, June 26 (AP)—What might be the world's smallest automobile has appeared in Osaka. The vest-pocket car weighs about 50 pounds. It accommodates one passenger who can reach a speed of 17 m.p.h. on the 1½-horsepower engine. The car was designed and manufactured at a cost of about 10,000 yen ($300) by Hiroshi Tamura, former president of "Sankokai Heavy Industries Company here. He hopes to mass-produce the gnat-like vehicles for sale abroad.

A knot is a measure of speed, being a speed of one nautical mile per hour.

NO BY-PASSING OF UN

"This is one world physically and scientifically, and it must be made one world politically and economically," said the Church Peace Union at a recent meeting in Atlantic City. The statement, read by its president, the Rev. Dr. Ralph Sockman, Methodist minister from New York City, went on:

"To achieve this, all nations must think in terms of the whole. The UN is the accepted instrument and there should be no more by-passing of it. Men and women today are living in a state of nervous apprehension—we are drifting into an inevitable war, a trend that must be arrested." It concluded, "When we really want peace we shall find the skill and the wit to bring it to pass."

The union, founded in 1914 by Andrew Carnegie, numbers prominent Protestants, Catholics and Jews among its membership. To have important leaders of these groups stressing, together, the importance of using UN machinery for peace, is heartening. The UN may be a faulty mechanism, but it is the best one that the world's nations have devised as yet for approaching international problems. United effort of all peoples in its behalf will strengthen it. In it lies the only tangible hope for peace that the world so far has at hand.

It's sort of funny, how many property owners seem to think they can get rich just by not paying their taxes.

HIDDEN BLESSINGS

While no one would go so far as to claim that German blitzes were a good thing for London as a whole, the English themselves report some good after-effects. St. Paul's Cathedral is said to emerge with new beauty since encroaching buildings have been demolished. Now that rebuilding has commenced, this masterpiece, built by Sir Christopher Wren in 1675, is to have more breathing-space than at any recent time. Squares with trees and flower gardens will give a sweeping view of its imposing facades. Similarly, in nearby areas, two-level thoroughfares are to solve pre-war traffic snarls due to automobile congestion on roads designed for foot and carriage traffic.

London newspapers seem actually grateful to the Germans for clearing out some of over-built London's crowded clutter. The British are incapable, apparently, of discouragement. Their wry humor keeps them from knowing when they're down.

Some authorities say, the only way to get things done in June is to get mad and plow right through everything.

SWISS AUTO SHOW

From Geneva, Switzerland, has come a photograph of that country's 1947 automobile show, just concluded. There is much in it to give Americans pause. The Geneva show, which apparently rivaled those in New York before the war, exhibited so many cars and trucks that there was little room between the exhibits. Space was at a premium.

One wonders if anything like so many new cars could be assembled for show purposes in the United States at this time. Probably so. Many companies could spare products for exhibit even with the orders stacked a year ahead. But the fact that many of those in the Geneva show were of American make, as well as the number of European cars exhibited, makes one wonder two things: How many of ours are being exported now; and what will be the European competition for foreign markets later?

A lot of people in this little bit of a world are getting too exclusive.

SOCIAL SECURITY CARDS

High school pupils and other persons, who will be employed in summer jobs this season, should secure social security account number cards if they go to work on a job that is covered by the Social Security Act.

Manager J. S. Blumberg of the Kingston office advises new workers to report their numbers to employers, part or full time, provided it is a job covered by the Social Security Act.

WAYNE MORSE
The weakness of American political parties is their irresponsibility as organized units for action. Neither the Chairmen of their national committees nor their chosen leaders in Congress can discipline any member of the party who chooses to get completely off the reservation. No caucus decision is really binding. Each individual represents not a party but at best the constituency that elects him; at worst, he may represent some outside group, even one that is opposed to the party whose label he bears.

Wayne Morse, Republican Senator from the State of Oregon, is neither a part of the Republican Party nor does he represent those who elected him from Oregon. He is the spokesman in the Senate for the dominant leadership of organized labor. He has opposed his party regularly since his election to the Senate, voting generally with the few remaining New Dealers. He is by principle and action no more a Republican than Henry Wallace, but there is nothing his party can do about it.

The filibuster which he organized against the Taft-Hartley Bill was a shoddy performance because it was premised on the assumption that either the President or the C.I.O. would and could buy off seven Senators but needed more time to do it. The open unscrupulousness, the cheap maneuvering, the shameless rejection of democratic processes would have been severely criticized in a Bill; they cannot be justified in the mind of Wayne Morse's claims to liberalism.

Wayne Morse served the New Deal in the Administration of Franklin D. Roosevelt, but he always registered as a Republican. Undoubtedly, this was because Oregon was a Republican state and a New Dealer had no chance of developing a political career there. He was new to Oregon, being from Wisconsin, but somehow he convinced the conservative Oregonians that he was a sound man. He has at times taken what looked like an independent attitude as when he forced Harry Bridges to abide by an arbitration agreement, or when he attacked John L. Lewis and Harold Ickes. But much of that looked like grandstand playing because since Morse has been in the United States Senate, he has acted more the advocate of the C.I.O. program than the representative of the people of Oregon or a member of the Republican party.

While Wayne Morse was campaigning for election to the Senate, his speeches were of a conservative character. He supported Tom Dewey and denounced President Roosevelt. Richard L. Neuberger, in an article on Morse, in the "American Mercury" says:

"Morse's close friends on the university campus, knowing his personal belief in international cooperation, heard him tell rural audiences that the Hull reciprocal trade program had to be abandoned in the interests of 'American markets for the American farmer.'"

That was "campaign oratory." Once he got into the Senate, he has played the opponent of the Republican party. He tied in with Claude Pepper and the Crozier Glen Taylor and other New Dealers. By nature an advocate, he fights hard and well for the cause he espouses, but he puts himself above loyalty to any group or party. He is an individualist, an extreme individualist who serves best his private opinions and aims.

The most curious fact in the controversy over the Taft-Hartley Bill is that Wayne Morse approved the committee's majority report. The next day he turned on himself and opposed the Bill. Since then he has been the fight against it. His ten-hour filibuster speech added nothing to his stature. He produced no new arguments. He added nothing to human knowledge or his party's leadership. He only proved that he could do what Huey Long and Bilbo did not as well. And he did it against his own party.

Republicans throughout the country are resentful of Wayne Morse. Most Democrats do not respect him because whereas men like the elder La Follette, George Norris or William Borah were of outstanding reputation before they took adamant and irreconcilable positions on public questions, Wayne Morse throws his weight about without particular purpose. It is as though he wanted to make certain that he was in the center of the spotlight. He courts the klieg lights. (Copyright, 1947, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

DECAY OF TEETH

For the past five years or more, we have been reading about certain sections of the country where the teeth of children and adults have been singularly free of infection. This is attributed to the fact that the drinking water and the soil of these sections contains the right percentage of fluoride.

Several months ago, I spoke of studies carried out on the teeth of school children in small urban communities in Minnesota by Drs. John W. Knutson and Wallace D. Armstrong. Fluorine was applied to the teeth of children seven to 15 years of age. Only the left quadrants of the mouth were treated, the right quadrants being used as controls. The treatment consisted of wailing off the teeth with cotton rolls and drying the surface with compressed air. The crown (top) of the tooth were wetted with a 2 per cent sodium fluoride solution and allowed to dry for about four minutes. Two-thirds of the children received two applications a week for eight weeks, a maximum of 15 treatments, and one-third received one application a week with a maximum of eight treatments. The treatments were completed in May, 1942. The treated group originally consisted of 327 children. The control group included 392 children. The third report is based on 242 treated children, who were observed throughout the three-year period.

During the three-year period ending May, 1945, the number of permanent teeth which showed signs of decay before treatment with fluoride were 36.7 per cent less in fluoride-treated than in untreated teeth. The difference for the first year was 23.8 per cent and for the two-year period ending May, 1944, was 41.4 per cent.

Among permanent teeth which were decayed at the beginning of the study in 1942, the number of additional surfaces which became decayed during the three-year period was 23.9 per cent less in treated than in untreated teeth with decay present at the beginning of the study.

The above figures prove that a 2 per cent sodium fluoride is effective in preventing much of the decay of teeth in children.

However, as stated once before, more than a 2 per cent solution may cause mottled teeth and less will not prevent decay.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, June 25—I take it as a rather personal favor when my friend, Benny Pross, that ineffable rogue who raised "rascality" to a sublime level, indites one of his moralistic messages to American labor. Just by citing and quoting, in such cases I am able to make my point that the devil has a glib tongue for Scripture in these arguments over the obvious crimes and the theological virtues of American unionism, when such an old-musthouth as William Green acknowledges that, unfortunately, they are a few undesirable characters in official positions in the union movement, it takes energy and work to set down the facts which prove that no other occupation this side of burglary has so high a proportion of thieves and thugs, and to whittle a nice point on the undeniable fact that Green, far from throwing them out, or helping the public authorities throw them into prison where they belong, often has taken their side.

But when Pross produces one of his essays, as he did again, in the June 16 number of the Beverly Retailer Weekly, published in New York, he proves my case so nicely that I don't have to get out of my chair. I just say to the jury, "listen, who's talking?"

I don't know why my friend, Benny, is so good to me, the low-down, dirty thief.

Anyway, please understand that I am not scolding him. I owe him for many an essay and it will be another sad day for me when they catch him in some new felony and take him away.

Benny, as some of my pupils may recall, is executive director of Wine, Liquor and Distillery Workers' Union, Local No. 1, and a boss under various other titles, of many other A. F. of L. unions of salespeople, warehouse workers, and handlers of drugs and medicine, and clearly he has twice been convicted of fraud in bankruptcy, which seems to be the principal occupation of several members of his charming family, one of whom, on the distaff side, also got a bit for running a gambling joint in New York, and he was in Federal Court on Newark on a charge of slitting 10,500 cases of over-quota whiskey into the black market for our brave boys in the training camps early in the war. He wiggled the hook there but, after all, he is a unioner, and this title was held in the political jurisdiction of Frank Hague, and before Judge Thomas F. Meany, who was Hague's appointee and you may recall the rest of that story which broke after the outrageous acquittal of Joe Fay, another union racketeer of the Hague adherence.

My research has been diligent and thorough. I have followed Benny Pross from the time of his arrival from Russia at the age of twelve and I am willing to defend him, free, against any man who asserts that he ever did an honest day's work in his life.

Benny often composes, either by hand or by counsel, high-sounding editorials about freedom, tyranny, Fascism, honor, unity and of course, Franklin D. Roosevelt. He likes gala occasions such as Labor Day and Memorial Day, which is an appropriate time to lower his eyes and tone and pay the sort of tribute known as heart-felt to those fine, freedom-loving American boys who gave their last full measure of devotion on foreign fields, and such as that, but not until they had turned their pants pockets inside out on hot summer nights in Georgia, Mississippi and Texas, getting up $25 a bottle for the black-market booze that went straight from Benny's New York allotment to their camps, even though he wasn't convicted in the Hague jurisdiction before Hague's man, Meany.

Benny Pross is a fine man, of the American Federation of Labor pattern, and when he defends the character of the typical A. F. of L. criminal parasite, the pot is calling the kettle white.

"There is no doubt that a few elements of organized labor have sometimes shown a deplorable lack of responsibility and an utter disregard for anybody but themselves," he wrote, this yellow rascal, under the title of "Guest Editorialist" in this trade publication.

On June 16, "this reckless selfishness has naturally resulted in some public impatience (Benny bought a beautiful high-suburban estate at Lake Mahopac last year which couldn't have stood him a dollar less than $50,000, all told) and is the greatest factor for explaining the present hue and cry against labor."

"Labor" is a term used by all the Prosses, Blofs and Fays as a synonym for themselves and for some other specimens of the low-level vermin that our society has yet produced.

"A small minority of the hue-and-cries are merely grinding their own axes of prejudice and hate."

But if he means me he is unjust to Westbrook Pegler. I love Benny Pross. Does the terror really hate the rat?

"The vast majority of the remainder must be made to understand, if they already do not, that their impatience caused by a few unions, cannot fairly be leveled at all acts of all unions."

"The impatience of an aroused section of the public, it is said, will easily be prevailed upon to condemn all unions because of a few. I, for one, will never believe it. Of course, Congress may pretend that the people want shackling of labor. But the people, and many of them carry union cards, will prove that sound and fury like chickens, come home to roost."

Brother Pross's record has been on public display through these winsome little essays for about four years. He is well beloved of the federations of the American Federation, dedicated and feared by the rank and file who wear his shackles and I will ever cherish him as a perfect example of the exempt and immune union racketeer to whom I owe a very decent portion of my taxable income.

Lifelines

C. B. DOUGLAS

Ulster county, at least once in those days before the automobile, began seriously on a new era of progress, experienced an interlude as western in character as a cowboy melodrama.

It happened just slightly over 43 years ago in June and focused some special and well-deserved attention on the sheriff's office.

Early in the morning of June 23, 1904, four men leaped from the underbrush of a quarry road leading to Jockey Hill and staged a hold-up which gave them temporary possession of a $2,776 payroll intended for quarry workmen.

They took the money from Orson C. Longyear, paymaster of the Hudson River Bluestone Company. They bound and gagged Longyear and John Markie, a quarry employee who rode in another rig up the hill ahead of Longyear.

The four wore masks made of burlap over their heads and each carried a pistol. They left the men lying on the ground and took their horses for the first lap of their getaway.

Longyear managed to loosen his bonds sufficiently to get a jack-knife from one of Markie's pockets and the men managed to release each other. They then went to Egbert Humphrey's Hotel from which Mr. Longyear notified the sheriff's office and the company.

Sheriff Webster notified deputies in various areas of the county and organized posse to comb the entire region. Deputy Sheriff Carman was assigned to an investigation at Jockey Hill.

Charles H. Delavergne of the bluestone company's office notified authorities in other points along the Hudson and the net was spread wide for the capture of the bandits. Bloodhounds from Napanoch were also used in the search.

The work of the local authorities proved remarkably effective considering the slower-moving official machinery of that day.

Two of the men were caught in the sheriff's trap the next day at Montomville and the other two early on the following morning near the U. S. railroad station at Brown's Station.

A sheriff's posse accounted for the two at Montomville, who were caught after a tip-off from Goble's Elmore, son of Levi Elmore, of Shokan and Chauncey Teas of Brown's Station brought in the other two.

The two captured last had been shot at earlier by Charles E. Ford, known in the mountains as a bear hunter. He came close to them once near the Brown's Station pulp mill, but they were able to elude him and take to the woods.

A posse of 75 men drove into Lawson's quarry at West Hurley and separate cordons closed in on them. They were apparently forced to back-track until they were finally caught at 4:45 in the morning.

The authorities had recovered nearly $2,000 of the money and their work was cheered by crowds in the uptown sector near the court house as the men were brought to jail. Most of the crowd was in town to attend a circus scheduled for that day, and as word got around among them that the men had been captured, many assembled near the court house.

The holdup, later reports indicated, had been engineered by the leader of the group, a tall, swarthy individual, who had been fired as a quarry workman two weeks prior to the payroll snatch.

Vaccination for smallpox was discovered in 1796 by Edward Jenner.

About seven per cent of U. S. auto production was exported to foreign countries in 1946.

Considered From Standpoint of Obedience, 'Wildcat' Strikes in Coal Fields Seen Preposterous

By DAVID LAWRENCE

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 26—When there's a "wildcat" in the coal fields among miners who are so well disciplined that they obey their leaders implicitly, it is preposterous for anyone to claim that such stoppages are spontaneous and are merely unauthorized.

The same technique was used once before while a Federal injunction was in effect. Only the threat by the court to retain a large portion of the fine previously imposed on the union caused the word to be passed out to the men to return to the mines.

For anyone to assume that the American people believe that a "wildcat" just happens and that no word comes from any union leader beforehand is to hold the observing public incapable of understanding the facts of labor-union life.

The soft coal mines today are under government control. The President knows, by the press and by information from the Department of Justice, that a wildcat has been begun in defiance of the Smith-Connally law, which is in effect since June 1, 1947.

A violation of law is just as much an offense if committed one day or one hour before the law expires as if it were committed a year before.

The Federal Government possesses ample powers to enforce a work stoppage if prompt action is taken. A Federal judge can issue a temporary restraining order effective at once. It would require all the miners to go back to work immediately under penalty of a fine. Concurrently the administration could apply provisions of the new law to enforce a work stoppage.

For while technically the mines are in government control, actually they are operated by the mine owners as trustees for mine property until such time as the government actually completes the takeover and finishes with the accounting necessary to clear up the transaction.

A "state of war" still exists, and seizures by the government occurred long before the Smith-Connally law was passed. These were carried out during the war powers of the executive.

The new labor law gives the Federal Government the power to maintain the status quo irrespective of whether there is or is not a contract in existence. The transfer from government operation to private hands does not mean a cessation of employment for the miners, who have for all practical purposes been working under the management of the private employers during the period of government operation.

The new law provides for continuity of operations and there is nothing in it which says that when there is a transfer of operating control or ownership the employment relationship ceases.

The new labor law provides against any and all work stoppages and makes no exception as to such contingencies as occur when a company is transferred from one ownership to another. Labor unions usually insist that, when there is a sale of a company, the successor company is bound to adhere to the same terms as those in existence at the time of the transfer of ownership. Collective bargaining rights for the miners' union did not terminate when the government took over the management. The government continued under the Smith-Connally law to deal with the miners' union as the legal representative of the workers.

The same Federal Government, in applying the terms of the Taft-Hartley law, can contend that a change in operating management does not immunize any union from its obligations under the new law. This law specifically provides that if there is no contract in existence, sixty days' notice must be given to the management by the union.

This means that the status quo cannot be upset without sixty days' notice and the President during that time can call for a board of inquiry. After that he can, through the attorney general, secure an injunction preventing the work stoppage from lasting more than 80 days.

The administration has adequate legal power to prevent another coal strike. The question is whether the President will do nothing and turn the issue over to Congress.

Both Houses might then pass a bill applicable to coal mining following exactly the words of the President's recommendation with respect to the rail strike.

If any unions think they are going to intimidate Congress by so-called "protests" against a law passed by two-thirds of both houses, they will find that they never made a grosser miscalculation of the capacity of Congress to secure respect for the laws it has made.

These courses are planned primarily for elementary school teachers and are being given as extension courses from the State Teachers' College in Oneonta. They may be taken for college credit.

Courses also will be offered to those merely interested in some creative work such as in the field of painting, weaving, jewelry making, textile decoration and ceramics.

The first meeting of the group will be held Tuesday, July 1, at 10 o'clock. Courses will be explained at that time. Further information may be obtained by calling Ellenville, 952-F-12.

Everyone expects both ice cream and fireworks on the "Fourth of July." Here are two special variations on that national theme. They use bulk ice cream, fresh fruit and baker's cake and call for comparatively little kitchen work, considering their unusual flavor and looks.

Peaches 'n' Ice Cream Pie

(Serves 6-7)

One quart peach or vanilla ice cream (bulk), 2 cup mashed ripe fresh peaches, 1 cup sugar, 1 tsp. cream, 1 baked pie shell, cooled, 6 to 7 ripe fresh peach halves.

Store ice cream in freezing tray with control set at freezing, until ready to serve. Cover mashed peaches with sugar and allow to stand one-half hour. Soak gelatin in a little peach juice for five minutes and then completely dissolve over hot water. Stir into mashed peaches. Chill in refrigerator. When ready to serve dessert, cover the bottom of the baked pie shell with the mashed fruit; fill with peach or vanilla ice cream and surround with peach halves. Note: Canned peaches may be substituted for fresh fruit, if desired.

Ice Cream Martini

Two packages baker's marble cake, 1 pint vanilla ice cream (bulk), 1 pint chocolate ice cream (bulk), chocolate sauce, marshmallow whip.

Set refrigerator control at freezing. Line a freezing tray with heavy waxed paper. Cover bottom with slices of marble cake. Spread vanilla ice cream lengthwise over half the cake, and chocolate ice cream over the other half, the two flavors meeting down the center. Top ice cream with another layer of sliced marble cake. Freeze at least two hours. To serve, cut into squares; top with chocolate sauce, then a spoonful of marshmallow whip.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Sliced bananas, ready-to-eat cereal, whole wheat toast, butter or fortified margarine, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Codfish cakes, raisins, cole slaw, whole wheat bread, butter or fortified margarine, fresh fruit, cup, sweet crackers, tea, milk.

DINNER: Broiled halibut, lemon and butter, parsley, new potatoes, peas with small white onions, soft rolls, butter or fortified margarine, sliced tomatoes with chopped green peppers, ice cream barlequin, coffee, milk.

Plane Grazes Shack

New York, June 26 (AP)—An Air France plane, arriving from Paris with 31 passengers, grazed a shack when it came in for a landing at LaGuardia Field late yesterday but landed safely despite damage to its right landing gear. The plane ground-looped, skidded 700 feet and tipped over on its right wing as it stopped. Capt. Jean Moulinier, the pilot, said he knew only that he had struck "some obstruction" and felt his speed drop. His co-pilot, Jean Raymond Dugot, cut batteries and fuel pumps after the shock and the plane did not catch fire. The plane, a Constellation, carried a crew of 10.

Coroner Asks Probe In Doyle Death in Resisting Pressure

Cleveland, June 26 (AP)—Declaring he did not want "a cloud on Ohio boxing," Coroner Samuel J. Gerber today promised a complete investigation of the death of Jimmy Doyle, 22-year-old Californian who never regained consciousness after being knocked out by welterweight Champion Ray (Sugar) Robinson in the eighth round of a title fight at the Arena here Tuesday night.

"A great deal of unholy pressure has been put on me to divert this investigation," said Dr. Gerber. "I am going to make a complete investigation. I will talk to anyone who had anything to do with this."

Dr. Gerber did not elaborate on what he meant by pressure. The coroner opened his probe last night by questioning Robinson, his manager, George Gairford, and two other handlers of the champion.

Robinson was accused during questioning by Dr. Gerber of being "evasive," so was Gairford.

"This is an unfortunate incident, and you are not to blame," the coroner said to Robinson. "But I want to know Doyle's condition as observed by laymen. And I want to arrive at a conclusion without pressure from anybody. I don't want a cloud on Ohio boxing."

Three Major Lines
His questioning led along three major lines:

"Was Doyle really fit and the right opponent for the welterweight champion of the world?"

"Was Doyle's earlier brain injury shown in paralysis of one eyelid or other parts of his body?"

"Was the floor of the ring properly padded?"

Robinson denied he thought Doyle an unworthy opponent. He denied having a voice in picking Doyle. He denied taking Doyle's injury last year into his fighting strategy.

Doyle was knocked out when he stepped into a stiff left hook and died of a brain injury 17 hours later in Charity Hospital.

The old wounds in his brain tissue were inflicted March 11, 1946, when Middleweight Artie Levine's blow sent the plucky Los Angeles boxer to the same hospital.

Dr. Gerber reported "Doyle died from a cerebral hemorrhage. There was general hemorrhage in the brain, considerable in the back of the brain. There was concussion also."

"His head striking the ring floor may have added to the damage. But he blow to the jaw or face was the cause of the injury to the brain. The evidence of the old brain injuries are there."

Etiquette-Wise Know How To Introduce

Introductions are so simple when you know how, so uncomfortable when you don't. Be sure of the rules and you'll be perfectly at ease whether called on to introduce two celebrities, or your current beau to your mother.

The rules are based on common sense. You introduce a man to a woman, a younger person to an older person of the same sex. Thus, it's "Mother, this is John Grey," and "Mrs. Lyons, do you know Miss Lee?"

Notice that a poised person avoids such crude phrases as, "Let me make you acquainted with," and "Shake hands with." It's good policy, too, to save a somewhat pompous phrase like, "May I present," for introductions to high-ranking persons.

People judge you by your etiquette; be sure of every point. Our Reader Service booklet No. 45 answers many of your questions.

Four Injured in Crash

On Minnewaska Trail

Four persons were injured in a head-on automobile collision on the Minnewaska Trail, about a mile from Kerhonkson, at 9:30 p. m. Wednesday, when cars operated by Lorin Black of Kerhonkson and Jacob Fogel of Ellenville crashed, according to a report at the sheriff's office.

Mrs. Belle Schoonmaker of Ker-honkson, riding with Black, suffered deep lacerations on the chin and right knee. The driver's left arm was cut. They were removed to the Kingston Hospital in the Humiston ambulance, summoned by Arthur Chipp of Kerhonkson. This morning their condition was announced as "fairly good."

Sidney Gold of Ellenville and Fogel, with whom he was riding, complained of minor injuries and were treated by their family physicians.

Dr. Alfred M. Feldstuh of Kerhonkson gave first aid to the four involved in the accident.

Deputy Sheriff Irving Gilman of Kerhonkson investigated the crash, and Harry Keator and Dillard Sapp, of the sheriff's office were assigned to make an official report of the accident.

lems that have not been solved as yet by the United Nations."

Chiang Kai-Shek recalled that China actually had become the only nation in the world to write into its constitution a pledge to uphold the charter.

Then speaking of the future, he said: "No difficulty should be insurmountable if all the members of the United Nations are willing to subordinate their own narrow national interests to the greater good of a united world."

Attlee urged his listeners not to overlook the constructive work with which the United Nations is performing in the economic and social fields.

Referring to Britain's pledge at San Francisco to uphold the principles of the U. N. Charter, Attlee said:

"We stand firmly by that pledge."

Ramadier said the U. N. had grown "despite the difficulties which divide the nations in their conceptions and immediate interests, despite the multiple difficulties which delay, postpone and modify the work."

"The charter teaches the people of the world that they can be a single people. Let us unite our efforts in this thought. That is the task which remains to be accomplished."

In words even more blunt than those used by the representatives of the Big Five, Paul-Henri Spaak, premier of Belgium and first president of the U. N. General Assembly, said:

"It is time to modify our methods, to dispel suspicions and to display at last a real spirit of comprehension and a true desire of collaboration. Despite its faults and shortcomings, the United Nations must achieve the organization of a peaceful world and the triumph of wise solutions. Each one of us must contribute to its success, on which depends in the last resort the fate of humanity."

Trygve Lie, secretary-general of the U. N., wound up the program on a note of hope.

"There is no occasion whatsoever for dismay," he said. "I assure you that we will not fail."

Many Adopt Program To Curb Car Sales

Albany, N. Y., June 26 (AP)—

A program aimed at curbing the quick resale of new automobiles at premium prices has been adopted by many dealers, the New York State Automobile Dealers Association says.

Under the plan proposed by the association, the buyer of a new automobile must sign an agreement with the dealer not to sell or exchange the car within a specified time without the seller's consent. A 90-day time limit was recommended by the association.

The association presented its plan following reports that new automobiles were being sold at $300 to $400 above the original cost.

Curley Must Serve

leging that Curley's reported illness is pretense.

Not Well Since 1933

Curley has diabetes and high blood pressure, Leahy went on, and added:

"Mayor Curley has not been well since 1933. Any one of several illnesses with which he is afflicted might prove fatal."

"It is an indisputable fact that the illnesses he now suffers are not just the illnesses of a 72-year-old man, but when found in a man of that age they approach fatality."

Judge Proctor noted in his written opinion that according to many competent doctors Curley has been suffering for many years from hypertension and diabetes.

"It is regrettable that the defendant is in ill health," he said, but added that he does not have the authority to grant clemency, nor to place Curley on probation. The latter course was out of the question, he said, because of Curley's conviction of a felony in 1903.

Would Be Poorly Served

Commenting on the petition for suspension of the sentence, the judge said:

"The court is of the opinion that the ends of justice and the public interest would be poorly served by such action."

"The case has been pending many years. The defendant has been ably represented. He has had a fair trial. He has lost."

Curley, a strong influence in Boston and Massachusetts politics for nearly half a century, was indicted with three others on Jan. 3, 1942, on charges of using the mails to defraud in connection with activities of Engineering Group, Inc. The government contended this firm falsely represented its ability to obtain war contracts for clients.

Curley finally was convicted on Jan. 18, 1946, and sentence pronounced just a month later. The Supreme Court rejected his last appeal ten days ago.

Paltz Board Says Johnson Refused To Okay Principal

District Superintendent Had Refused to Approve
Cunningham, Is Latest Report

The people of the New Paltz central school district are being told by the Board of Education of the district why Principal Raymond Cunningham was not given a renewal of his contract.

First to be told were the residents of Gardiner where a special meeting was held last evening at the request of the people in that area and this evening the people of Oliveville will hold a similar meeting. Next Thursday there will be a meeting in New Paltz. At the Gardiner meeting Theodore Wright presided as chairman and David W. Corwin, New Paltz attorney and member of the board, explained the position of the board in the matter. During the discussion all members of the board participated in the meeting. It was stated that in order that a principal be retained it was necessary for the District Superintendent to approve such applicant and Mr. Corwin said District Superintendent Ralph E. Johnson had refused to give his approval of Mr. Cunningham. It was also stated that since another principal had been hired it was an obligation of the district to pay that man and although some of the people of the district might desire to reinstate Mr. Cunningham, it was impossible to take any such action now.

No matter how many persons were included on the Board of Education of the district or how many of the members sought to engage Mr. Cunningham, it was stated that it would be impossible to do so without the consent of the district superintendent. Members of the board explained why the information given at the meeting last evening had not been released before, stating that the board had been informed that an appeal was to be taken from the action of the board in the State Education Department and the members of the board had felt that information regarding the action of the board in declining to offer Mr. Cunningham a contract for next year should be withheld and given at such a hearing before the State Education Department when the issue would be tried out.

No Statements
It was further stated by the speakers that the board had not made any public statements prior "because the board did not desire to embarrass Mr. Cunningham" should he make an application for another position. It was stated that Dora Arras, music teacher, has submitted her resignation to the board in writing and that resignation had been accepted. The resignation of the music teacher was one of the elements which came up during the Cunningham dispute. Students of the school staged a demonstration earlier this spring when it was learned that no contract was to be offered Mr. Cunningham. The students demonstrated about the village for a time and were then persuaded to return to their desks by Mr. Cunningham.

Following the demonstration by the students petitions were circulated about the village, seeking to petition the board to reinstate Mr. Cunningham and offer him a contract. On March 22 after the board had declined to offer Mr. Cunningham a new contract for the school year 1947-48, Frank Burger of the area was appointed principal of the New Paltz Central School and he will take over the duties on July 1.

was set up to train only army officers but was broadened last year to include all the services.

Gives Recommendations
Baruch's preparedness program, which he said "should be based upon the statute books ready to function," includes these additional recommendations:

- "An industrial plan ready to go into effect with full control of production, distribution and prices, with the power of allocation, priority and even exclusion for everything."
- "Taking unfair profits out of war and preventing inflation through an over-all price regulation, tax and saving program. There must be only enough profit to keep our economy and production going."
- "An organization to export materials in demand by other nations and to buy the things our nation needs or desires to keep from enemy hands."
- "Accumulation of critical imports."
- "Retention of war plants, particularly synthetic rubber plants."
- "Intensified scientific research."
- "An intelligence service enlarged beyond what now exists."
- "Information and propaganda organized, gone over and continually improved to be ready when action demands."

Testimony Is Completed

Washington, June 26 (AP)—The government and the defense completed testimony today in the 10-week-long trial of ex-Congressman Andrew J. May and munitions makers Murray and Henry Garrison on war bribe conspiracy charges. Trial Judge Henry A. Schweinhart announced that concluding arguments will begin tomorrow and probably continue all next week, so the case may not reach the jury before Monday, July 7.

As a general rule, tomato juice can be used, measure for measure, in recipes where tomatoes are called for. Be careful about further seasonings when making this substitution as commercially canned juice often contains spices as well as salt.

Industry reports, complained they were getting nowhere.

These industry officials said Lewis is holding out for a 35-cent hourly wage increase, a 10-cent a ton royalty to replace the current 5-cent and to his Union Welfare and Retirement Fund plus his other original demands.

Landis, however, told a reporter today he is convinced the contract deadlock could be broken if the operators would agree to:

"A 5-cents a ton royalty for the Welfare Fund."

"A seven-hour day" plus an hour's portal-to-portal (travel) time, instead of the present eight-hour day and an hour's portal time."

"The safety code the miners now have in their contract with the government."

"Of course," Landis added, "they would have to pay a decent wage, too, but the wage issue isn't much of a barrier."

"It looks to me as if the operators should give in. If we ever should have to go back to government seizure of mines in a big coal strike, the miners would get all those things from the government anyway."

Chatham Man Hurt As Pole Strikes Auto

Arthur Knight of Chatham narrowly escaped serious injury shortly after noon today when the car in which he was riding was struck by a pole on a truck operated by Harold Keator of Accord, a police report revealed.

According to the police Keator was traveling south on Broadway and turning right into Greenkill avenue and Knight was behind him and headed in the same direction on Broadway. The pole, the police said, crashed through the windshield of the Knight car and crashed through a rear window. It barely missed the driver's head and scraped over his shoulder, but the police said he reported no injuries.

The Solomons are estimated to include more than 10,000 islands and islets.

Two Are Indicted By Grand Jury

Twelve Sealed Papers, Two Dismissals Returned in Partial Report

Two open indictments were returned this morning in county court by the Grand Jury which made a partial report to Judge Cushman and then resumed its deliberations. A final report will be made on Monday morning at 11 o'clock.

John Hornbeck of Allgerville was charged with violation of Section 483-b and Subdivision 2 of Section 483, a morals charge, alleged to have been committed on June 15. Hornbeck said he would attempt to get an attorney and a plea of innocent was entered and the matter put over until Monday at 11 o'clock.

James Louise Williams and Gertrude Arent of Kripplchub, both 16 years of age, were charged with burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry to a house, on June 6. Both pleaded innocent and Arthur A. Davis, Jr., was assigned as counsel and the case was set down for next Monday at 1 a. m. The grand jury recommended that the two girls be prosecuted under the Youthful Offender statute.

There were 12 sealed indictments returned and two dismissals.

Among the dismissals was a rape charge which had been lodged against Bene Russell of Woodstock and a forgery charge against Ernest DeWaters. Bail in both cases was exonerated.

A charge of assault, second degree, against Frank Augustine, Jr., which had been lodged by his wife, was dismissed when Mr. Augustine decided to prosecute the charge, stating to the court that a reconciliation had been made between herself and her husband. Bail was canceled. Joseph Campbell, attorney for Augustine, moved for the dismissal of the charge against the town of Saugerties man and District Attorney Louis C. Bruhn consented to the dismissal.

The grand jury then resumed its deliberations.

Truck Operator Held

An International dump truck owned by Peter Perry of 590 Broadway, Kingston, operated south by Hubert Gary Sutton of 66 Barclay street, on Kings Highway near Katsbaan left the road this morning when he pulled to pass another truck and ran through a ditch and up on the property of Vincent Florio. No one was injured but the Florio lawn was damaged and a water pipe broken. Trooper John Kehlenbeck of Lake Katrine was called and the operator of the truck was arrested on a charge of failure to have his vehicle under control. The matter will be heard before Justice of the Peace Ernest Schirmer at Saugerties Friday at 2 p. m. The accident happened at 8:45 o'clock this morning.

President Vetoes Wool Price Bill

Truman Fears Law Would Have Bad Effect on World Relations

Washington, June 26 (AP)—President Truman today vetoed the Wool Price Support Bill because he said it would have "an adverse effect on our international relations."

The measure would have continued government prices on wool at present levels and authorized the President to boost tariffs or restrict imports of foreign wool products pushed down by domestic prices.

"The enactment of a law providing for additional barriers to the importation of wool at the very moment when this government is taking the leading part in a United Nations Conference at Geneva to reduce trade barriers would be a tragic mistake," Mr. Truman said.

He added in a message to Congress: "It would be a blow to our leadership in world affairs."

It would be interpreted around the world as a first step on that road to economic isolationism which we and other countries traveled after the first World War with such disastrous consequences.

"I cannot approve such an action."

The veto was the third major one this congressional session.

He previously had vetoed a tax reduction bill and the Taft-Hartley Labor Bill.

The House upheld the tax bill veto but both the Senate and House overrode the labor bill veto, making it law.

The Wool Price Bill veto message was sent to the Senate, which will get the first opportunity to decide on upholding or overruling the President. Two-thirds vote in both Houses is required to set aside a veto.

Mr. Truman declared that American wool growers are entitled to price support and called on Congress to act promptly on a new bill "consistent with our international responsibilities and the interest of our economy as a whole."

He said that the original Senate bill was satisfactory to him but he objected to the House-added amendment "intended to increase the tariff on wool through the imposition of import fees." He added:

Moscow's latest medical sensation is the announcement by Professor Lina Stern, only woman member of the Russian Academy of Sciences, of a method of combating diseases by giving injections into the brain. This, it is claimed, circumvents the barrier which defends the brain from poisons approaching it in the bloodstream. Father Sieczek Has 20th Anniversary

Sunday was a day of celebration for the pastor of Immaculate Conception Church, the Rev. Joseph J. Sieczek, and 200 members of his congregation who honored him with a reception commemorating his 20th anniversary in the Roman Catholic priesthood. He has served at the Delaware avenue church for the past two years, prior to which he was stationed at a church in Harlem. Grouped around the priest in the parochial school hall after a surprise anniversary dinner are John Tatarzewski, John Buboltz, Louis

Kolano, Raymond Cwill, Donald Tucker and Val Skop, who was toastmaster. Other members of the committee were Mrs. T. Hudela and Mrs. S. Janeczek. Among the honored guests were the Very Rev. Monsignor Martin J. Drury, pastor of St. Mary's Church, and dean of Ulster and Sullivan counties; the Rev. John Simmons of St. Joseph's Church and Mayor William F. Edelmuth. Father Sieczek, a native of Florida, N. Y., received flowers and a sizeable purse presented by Eileen Reis in behalf of his parishioners. (Ken Roosa Photo)

Whale's Love Life Is Okay for Sperm, Krilling for Baleen

Washington, June 26 (AP)—Dr. Raymond Gilmore, the government's expert on the love life of the whale, issued his eagerly awaited report today.

His verdict: Some have a lot. Some don't have any. It all depends.

Dr. Gilmore, biologist for the Fish and Wildlife Service, made his report for the Smithsonian Institution after his trip with the Navy's Antarctic expedition.

Bachelors everywhere will find the study sad reading.

It seems that sperm whales are polygamous. One or two males of this species will collect a bunch of good-looking cow whales and set up sentinels in tropical or sub-tropical waters.

This leaves quite a few male whales with nothing much to do but go down to the Antarctic and sulk. Which they do.

"The Antarctic bulls," the Smithsonian says, "presumably are animals which have been unable to find a place for themselves in harems."

"In many cases they may be old animals who have been ousted by stronger young bulls. For these the Antarctic waters serve as a sort of 'old bull's summer home.'"

The government takes a very unromantic view of a whale suffering unrequited love. So far as the government is concerned, a male whale which can't be caught by a female may as well be caught.

But a whale can't make enough money catching just bachelor or divorced sperm whales. If he wants to fetch home the bacon, he must also fetch home some of the more valuable baleen whales.

The baleen isn't like the sperm whale. He takes only one wife, and he and the little lady go south for the summer.

It wouldn't take long, Dr. Gilmore thinks, for this species to become extinct if it isn't protected.

That's why he'd like to see the continuation of an agreement that sets up a sort of whale reservation in the Antarctic.

Incidentally, if the baleen whale takes his family responsibilities seriously, he has a job on his slip-pers.

For he and the little lady love to eat krill. This is a one-inch shrimp, and it must take a billion of these to keep the Mrs. well fed.

As the world's largest animal, a baleen may weigh as much as 100 tons.

Obviously, it takes a lot of krill to fill.

Rats cause an annual damage of $6,000,000 in Chicago, according to estimates.

Can Photograph Rays

Rochester, N. Y., June 26 (AP)—Scientists now can photograph cosmic rays. The Eastman Kodak Company announced yesterday that a new film, which will photograph the rays has been developed. The film shows atoms in the act of splitting off in small parts when hit by cosmic rays and occasionally, shows the ray itself. Silver grains, similar to those used for ordinary pictures, are used in the new film, but the grains are treated chemically so they are not specially sensitive to light. Instead, they are sensitized to the peculiar electrical nature of atomic particles, which is called ionization. These particles expose the special silver grains to an electrical trail, which, when developed, shows where the particles went and what kind of particles they were.

Johnston Hits Wallace As Economic Prophet

Washington, June 26 (AP)—Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Association, today described Russia as "a huge glacier, moving steadily from east to west, smothering and pulverizing whatever may lie in its path."

He declared the policy of the Soviet Union has raised the question whether this is "another ice age on the way, and this time made by man instead of by nature."

In an address prepared for a luncheon of the Belgium-American Society in Brussels, Johnston said that if Henry A. Wallace "had looked east instead of west when he was in Europe, he might have found some cause to worry about imperialism in the world today."

Johnston said Wallace proved "how reliable an economic prophet" he was when as secretary of commerce he "predicted there would be 8,000,000 unemployed in the United States immediately after the war."

Instead, Johnston commented, "we had a manpower shortage and employment in my country has moved steadily forward since the war to an all-time high."

Crests Are Near In Midwest Areas

Des Moines Is in Peril in Heart of City

(By The Associated Press)
Floods from swollen rivers and streams in parts of Iowa, Missouri and Nebraska appeared headed for near record crests today as workers labored through the night to halt the onrushing waters.
In Des Moines hundreds of families were evacuated from an area covering 63 square blocks of the Des Moines and Raccoon rivers, which join near the heart of the city, continued to rise. The Iowa capital city's business district was not immediately endangered by the floodwaters although the rivers were stretching into the residential area.

The rampaging Missouri river on the Iowa-Nebraska border spilled over farm lands as it continued to rise. Workmen battled to halt another disastrous flood.
Between Rulo, in the southeast Nebraska, and St. Louis, only 54 of 250 levees had withstood the relentless pounding of the high waters. Only two of the 49 levees in the Glasgow, Mo., area remained intact.
A curfew was ordered in Des Moines last night, clearing the streets of all persons not engaged in attempting to control the Des Moines and Raccoon rivers. Workmen piled sandbags on dikes and plugged levees. Eight bridges over the two rivers were closed to traffic. An estimated 1,800 persons had been evacuated from their homes.

The Des Moines river stage early today was 26.37 feet, a foot below the record stage of 1903. At the Scott street bridge at the junction of the two rivers a crew of 60 men worked through the night erecting sandbag barriers.
Newark Holds Probe On Horse Hamburgers

Newark, N. J., June 26 (AP)—City officials, announcing the arrest of two dealers for masquerading horse meat as hamburger, began a full scale survey today to determine how many unsuspecting diners and hamburger stands had been selling horseburgers.
Dr. Charles V. Craster, city health officer, said the two men were selling lunchroom operators what they listed as "chopped beef" at 3 to 4 cents a pound below current prices. These were nevertheless 15 cents a pound over regular horsemeat prices, Craster said.
Dr. Craster reported that analysis of meat samples taken from 25 hamburger stands and diners showed at least a dozen were "100 per cent horsemeat or highly suspicious of being horsemeat."

Six Lives Are Lost In Train Derailment

Shelby, O., June 26 (AP)—A derailment of the New York Central Railroad's St. Louis Special took six, and possibly seven, lives last night at nearby Shiloh when twin locomotives pulling the six-car passenger train from Cleveland to St. Louis leaped the track and plunged into an embankment.
The engineers and firemen of both locomotives and two members of a railroad work camp were killed.
The state highway patrol said a third railroad camp worker was believed buried in the wreckage.
A search continued today for the body of Fireman J. J. McCord, buried beneath tons of coal in the cab of the lead engine—and for that of another possible seventh victim, who was not identified.
Railroad officials would not comment on the possible cause.

Siegal Killing Is No Where Near Any Official Solution

Beverly Hills, Calif., June 26 (AP)—No squealer came forth from the underworld today to finger the slayer of Benjamin (Bugsy) Siegel, and so in simple police routine his gangland slaying was entered into criminal mystery records as having been committed by "person or persons unknown."
Following an inquest, at which the last three persons to see the gambler and former public enemy alive presented authorities with few clues, his brother, Dr. Maurice Siegel, claimed the body and transferred it to a mortuary.
Principal witness was Allen Smiley, tall, white-haired associate of the dapper gambler, whose life was blasted out by an assassin's rifle bullets last Friday night as he sat reading a newspaper on a divan in the home of Virginia Hill, thrice-wed Alabama heiress, now in Paris.
Smiley, who sat on the same divan and whose coat sleeve was pierced by one of the bullets, testified the shooting occurred shortly after he and Siegel returned to the house from a dinner party with Miss Hill's brother,

Charles, and her secretary, Miss Jeri Mason.
"Suddenly there was a noise," said Smiley. "I looked up quickly and thought it was a bunch of firecrackers. For a second, I thought it might be a gag."
"I looked up at Ben's face and saw blood all over it, so I instinctively fell on the floor for my own protection."
Hill and Miss Mason testified that in response to Smiley's call to them upstairs, they turned out the lights and called the police and a doctor.
All three said they could throw no light on the slayer's identity.

Is Called Embezzler
But Bankers Back Him
Indianapolis, June 26 (AP)—Indiana State Bank officials today looked for someone to operate the Napoleon (Ind.) State Bank while officials of the institution reiterated their confidence in their cashier who was charged with embezzling $43,494.
The Indiana Department of Financial Institutions took over control of the bank after Robert C. McClanahan, 33 year old cashier, was charged with embezzling the funds, which exceeded the bank's capitalization of $34,700.
A bank director said that the money McClanahan was accused of embezzling, which was used to buy equipment for a limestone company in which the cashier was a partner, had been repaid to the bank by "friends."

After the shortage was discovered but before the cashier, McClanahan was arrested on federal charges, the bank directors met and gave the cashier a vote of confidence.

Says Cancer, Heart Disease May Come From Nicotine

Swampscott, Mass., June 26 (AP)—Dr. J. D. Varney of Dayton, Ohio, today said he believed "nicotine is at the bottom not only of heart disease and cancer but is indirectly responsible for a large per cent of other diseases." He told the American Institute of Homeopathy, in a prepared address that scientists "are proving that nicotine is one of the most deadly poisons known to medicine."

He said that constant inhaling of tobacco smoke "causes chronic irritation of the bronchial tubes and lungs, opening a fertile field for cancer."

Referring to various medical investigations, Dr. Varney said it had been determined that excessive smoking caused arteries to contract, causing on the heart "to force blood through them 50 times a minute faster than normal."

Deer Hunt

Watertown, Mass., June 26 (AP)—It's open season at Watertown Arsenal on a young doe hiding on the grounds, but hunters are using lures, not the heavy rifles turned out by this famous gun factory.

Frightened by a passing train, it jumped over the arsenal fence and remained at large, eating tidbits from the commandant's vegetable garden.

Gull Bait

Salt Lake City, June 26 (AP)—Ninety-nine years ago the seagulls just swarmed into the Salt Lake valley without provocation to feast on the crickets that threatened the crops of the Mormon pioneers.

However, this year, when a new $200,000 monument will be unveiled to celebrate the arrival of the same pioneers, the commission in charge is asking for broad donations to scatter near the statues and attract the gulls.

Edwin Bahl Marries Shirley Sherry At Synagogue

The wedding of Miss Shirley Sherry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Sherry, 172 Main street, to Edwin Bahl, 27 Spring street, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alex Bahl, took place Sunday at 3 p. m. in the Agudas Achim Synagogue. Rabbi Stanley Danziger of the synagogue performed the ceremony. Mrs. Peter Mancuso sang "Be-cause," and "I Love You Truly." She was accompanied by Joe Vigna, accordionist. The altar was decorated with gladioli and ferns. The bride, who was given in marriage by her parents, wore a white slipper satin gown made with off-the-shoulder neckline of princess lace. Her tulle finger tip veil was attached to a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a white Bible mounted with an orchid and marked with white ribbon streamers caught with baby's breath. Her cousin, Mrs. Jerome M. Shapiro of Newburgh, as matron of honor wore an ice blue faille gown with tiara to match and long muffs. She carried a muf of red roses.

The bridegroom was given in marriage by Mrs. Harry Katzoff, his sister, and Milton Bahl, his brother. His best man was another brother, Aaron Bahl. Good Taste Today

By Emily Post

(author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

TABLE IS SCREENED

A situation met by about five present-day hostesses out of six is this one: "In an apartment where one end of a very large living room serves as the dining room, what is the best procedure when giving a buffet supper? Should the food be on the table when the guests arrive or be brought in afterwards? What would be the nicest way to do it?"

A very nice way—in fact, the only practical one—would be to have at least one and possibly two movable screens stand in front of and close to the table until it is time to have the guests served. If the table can be pushed toward the far wall temporarily, this should be done and then it could be pulled forward when the screens are removed.

Men's Clothes

Dear Mrs. Post: With which type of suits are bow ties worn? Answer: A bow tie of the right kind is worn with every modern type of suit. A white lawn tie with tucks, a black tie with tuxedo, a black or dark blue tie with blue suit and a gay one with country clothes.

Marking the Ten Set

Dear Mrs. Post: On which side should the teapot and other silver appointments belonging to a tea set be marked? Specifically, should they be toward the pourer or away from her?

Answer: According to oldest custom, the family crest is put on the side away from the pourer and initials toward. However, marking actually depends upon the design of the silver and its ornamentation.

Novelty No Part in Wedding

Dear Mrs. Post: Why wouldn't plain white linen coats and plain dark trousers be an acceptable combination for the men at a daytime wedding taking place in the country? Why must it be plain dark coats and white trousers. Answer: Because the white coat and plain trouser combination you describe is a novel one and novelty has no place on any occasion that is as formal as that of a wedding.

Mrs. Post's booklet, "Table Service," No. 504, explains how to mark and fold napkins, place the silver and arrange the flowers and candlesticks, as well as many other helpful rules of etiquette. To obtain a copy send 10 cents (coin preferred) and a 2-cent stamp to her in care of Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station J, New York 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail.

Nazi Husbands Urged
 German war prisoners might solve the problem of England's "200,000 surplus women of marriageable age," if some of them were allowed to become British citizens, Martin Lindsay, Member of Parliament, suggested in London. "I believe it is a great misfortune for a woman to be unable to fulfill her natural biological function because of the shortage of males," he said, pointing out that the problem was worse owing to the number of British soldiers in Germany who want to marry German girls.

Morgans Seek to Snap Chez Emile City Loop Streak Tonight

Thomas to Oppose McElrath In Vital Game; Starts 6:15

Providing the weatherman helps out, one of the season's biggest thrills is expected to jam-pack the Athletic Field tonight for the vital City League contest between the first place Chez Emile nine and the inspired Morgan's Restaurant club. Game time is set for 6:15 o'clock.

Chez Emile, riding at the top with four successive wins, will send Finky McElrath to the hill in hopes of making it five in a row. Bill Thomas, veteran righthander, is due to toe the slab for Morgans. McElrath defeated the 7-Up club by 5-3 in his last outing while Thomas was one of three pitchers who saw their club get a 4-4 tie with Jones Dairy last week.

Although the first place club has plenty of power, rooters of the Morgan combine have every hope that Thomas can stop the four-game winning streak tonight. He pitched superbly last week but was forced to leave the hill with a bad arm. Reports have it that his arm is okay now which means trouble for the pennant aspiring Chez Emile team.

Hofbrau Wins, 9-0

Shortcut to a healthy City League argument. . . . Ask a group of fans to name the best pitcher among Artie Barnes, Bill Windburn and Jack Watzka. . . . Three fans might give you three different choices. . . . Windburn has the best record, Barnes has the great all-round repertoire, while young Watzka is potentially top man in the trio. . . . The strapping East Kingston youngster, whose father was quite a fireballer in the 1920's, will in time outstrip his contemporaries. . . . Right now, we think, he throws too many curve balls and gets in trouble by failure to control the No. 2 consistently. . . . If we had his power, we'd just rare back and fog them in, and blow over 90 per cent of the City League hitters. . . . Walter Johnson got by for years without a curve ball. Young Watzka is as fast as Johnson but he's swift enough to mow down twilight league competition any night in the week.

The Nineteenth Hole
Poughkeepsie has two outstanding women golfers in Shirley Pickett and Mrs. Morris A. Dauchy. . . . Charlie De Stefano, College Hill pro in the Bridge City, is enjoying another banner season. . . . Bobby Locke, the South African sphinx, who proved to the utter consternation of American golf contemporaries that the Dark Continent produces things other than lions and tigers, was expressing alarm about the amount of practice done by American pros.

"I don't want to leave my game on the practice tee," he said. "I figure a golfer has only so many good shots in his system. Why not save them for the actual round? I'm amazed at the way American pros use up energy in practice. That sort of ordeal would wear me out, physically and mentally. To me it's smacks of drudgery. If golf isn't a game played for fun then it becomes hurt work. That's my philosophy, anyhow."

I'd lose my touch if I practiced pitching and chipping, he says. "I hit a few with the long range clubs before teeing up, merely to loosen up my shoulder muscles and to get the kinks out of my back. It's a warmup with me, rather than a dress rehearsal."

Flotsam and Jetsam

Does this fellow, Chick Harbert, the long-hitting pro use the same equipment as ordinary duffer mortals? . . . The wire reports on his P.G.A. quarter-final match noted: "On the 432-yard 10th hole, Harbert used a brassie to explode a tremendous shot that landed in a gully less than 100 yards from the green." Later: Harbert struck a spectacular shot on the 320-yard sixteenth, his ball rising the green when it struck a spectator. Gene Sarzen's victory over Sam Snead and others proved that in match play, age is not a determining factor. . . . Over the 72-hole haul in medal competition, it's something else. . . . The Brooklyn Dodgers' baseball school in Kingston Friday and Saturday, June 27-28, will be the first in New York state this season. . . . Young players between 17 and 22 are eligible. . . . Branch Rickey, Dodger president, emphasizes that a boy does not necessarily have to be a good player to participate in the school program. The school will be a failure if every boy between the ages of 17 and 22, in the Kingston area, does not take advantage of the instructions, Mr. Rickey says.

TWENTY YEARS AGO: George Bush pitched West Shore to 2-0 victory over Walt Black and the U. & D. in City League. . . . Bush permitted only two hits and fanned 8. . . . Stan Colvin shut out Palens, 9-0, with three hits and eight strikeouts. . . . The Kingston Colonials defeated the Huron Cubans, 7 to 4, at the old Fair Grounds. . . . McElrath's base-clearing triple decided the issue. . . . Bud Cullison was the winning pitcher. . . . Tommy Dault replaced Bill Schwab, who pulled a tendon, and T.D. got two hits in two trips.

Giants' Big Three Likened To Famous Murderers' Row

(By The Associated Press)

Johnny Mize, Walker Cooper and Willard Marshall, the thumping trio of the New York Giants have been slugging enemy pitchers at such a terrific rate that veteran observers have begun to compare them with the famous old Murderers' Row of the New York Yankees.

But even the Yankee wrecking crew of Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig and Tony Lazzeri, despite its tremendous slugging prowess, could not accomplish what the 1947 Giant trio is heading for.

At their current pace, Mize, Cooper and Marshall may finish one, two, three in the National League home run and runs batted in championship race. No other trio ever achieved such a feat.

Mize, Cooper and Marshall drove in all the Giants' runs yesterday in their 9-3 victory over the Cubs in Chicago. Each walloped a home run, with Cooper knocking in four runs, Mize three and Marshall two.

While the Giants hammered three Cub hurlers for 11 hits, Lefty Dave Kosko turned back the Bruins with seven safeties for his seventh straight win. The win moved the Giants a game away from the front running Boston Braves and a half game back of the second place Brooklyn Dodgers.

Rookies Harry Taylor and Johnny Jorgenson starred for the Dodgers who defeated the Pirates 6-2, in Pittsburgh for the 21st setback in the Bucs' last 26 games. Taylor limited the Pirates to seven hits in gaining his fifth victory while Jorgenson drove home five runs with a single, double and triple against his former mate, Kirby Higby.

Finky Schaefer, the Yankees' sensation rookie righthander, won his third shutout of the season when he limited the Cleveland Indians to three hits as the Yankees won 3-0 at night. Billy Johnson and Joe DiMaggio, staggling a merry race for the runs batted in leadership. Knocked in the Yankees runs to delight in a tremendous Yankee Stadium turnout of 60,090 cash customers who boosted the Yankee home attendance over the million mark—1,018,082—in 31 games. It was Schaefer's ninth win against two defeats. The win increased the Yankees first place lead in the American League to two and a half games.

Scoring four runs in the last half of the ninth, the Cincinnati Reds came from behind to nip the Phillies 9-8 in a thriller at Cincinnati. Hugh Poland, recently acquired from the Phils, ally maxed the Reds' winning rally with a pinch-hit single. Al Lakeland, who went to the Phils in the deal that brought Poland to the Reds, slammed a two-run homer during a five-run Philadelphia uprising in the eighth.

Dodgers Play Carbondale In Double-Header Tonight

Next Kingston Bouts Scheduled July 10th

Boxing fans who contemplated watching Tony Barone and Eddie Morton slug it out at the municipal auditorium tonight will have to wait until July 10 for this B'nai B'rith feature.

Cancellation of tonight's show happened after Barone said he wouldn't be ready until the 10th of next month because of a vacation schedule at his place of employment, which pressed him for time and interfered with his training. Tony always insists on being in the best of physical condition for his matches. More information about the supporting card for the Barone-Morton bout will be announced soon.

The Carbondale Pioneers may get to play a North Atlantic League game in Kingston, but the Dodger management won't guarantee it, unless Jupe Pluvius has a change of heart—but soon.

The second-place Pennsylvania breezed into town yesterday, the second hottest club in the circuit, but never got a chance to show their wares, Old Jupe, who has been a persistent nuisance throughout the season, knocked out last night's schedule after one and a half innings of play.

The weatherman was pretty much in control throughout the rest of the North Atlantic League schedule Wednesday night. The Peekskill Highlanders picked up a half game on the idle Dodgers when they humbled Stroudsburg, 5 to 1. Peekskill, in third place, trails Kingston by seven full lengths.

In the only other game last night, Mahany City lapped Bloomingdale 10 to 2 in the first of a scheduled twin-bill. Rain curtailed the nightcap. Besides the Carbondale-Kingston clash going by the boards due to rain, Nazareth and Nyack also were kept idle.

First Game 6:30

A doubleheader is on tap for this evening, with the first game, a seven-inning affair, slated to start at 6:30, following by a regulation eight-inning contest. Ken Braun and Hank Neighbors are the probable Kingston starters.

Only a handful of the hardest species of fans ventured out last night, hoping against hope that a game would be played. The management was in the same boat. Manager "Sugar" Scherger would have been happy to forget the whole thing but there are enough doubleheaders already on the docket to insure combat fatigue for every member of the hurling corps.

Allan Gilbert, the righty with that deceptive motion to first, started against Carbondale's ace, Al Zickowitz, and held a 1-0 lead when a driving downpour scattered the players and spectators. The Dodgers nicked Zickowitz for three hits in the first inning and picked up a single tally in spite of a double play. "Knobby" Rosa greeted Zickowitz with a single but was promptly erased on Brian Kerr's double play.

Manager Scherger rapped a single to give signs of breaking out of a protracted slump and rode home on Walt Kowalski's double to left field.

Carbondale got two singles off Gilbert in the second but a snappy double play wiped out the threat.

Bill Schwab and Bill "Pie" Murphy were impressed into service as umpires when the regular arbiters failed to show up. It required heroic work by Chuck Davis, Business Manager Paul Taylor and a corps of assistant groundkeepers to get the diamond in shape only to have their efforts washed off the slate in a few minutes.

They'll try it again tonight. After all, it can't rain forever, or can it.

Hard Opens G.A.R. Camp at Lake Placid

Lake Placid, N. Y., June 26 (AP)—A lone Civil War veteran, the nation's oldest, opened today a "one-man" state encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic.
He was 105-year-old James A. Hard of Rochester, state commander, and the only one of a handful of surviving New York state G.A.R. members who made the trip.
Three-day encampments were opened simultaneously by five companion organizations—The Women's Relief Corps, Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic, Daughters of Union Veterans, Sons of Union Veterans and the Auxiliary to the Sons. Other surviving Civil War Veterans in the state include Robert Rownd, 102, of Ripley; Henry A. Horton, 101, of Troy; and Jacob Lester, 100, of Binghamton.

Costes Is Arrested

Paris, June 26 (AP)—Dieudonne Costes, French aviator who flew the Atlantic from Paris to New York in 1930, was arrested and turned over to the Paris military tribunal today for charges of intelligence with the enemy. The indictment declared he collaborated with the economic services of the Germany army in France.

Most Claims Paid For Texas City, Is Board's Report

New York, June 26 (AP)—More than 90 per cent of the claims for loss and damage in the Texas City disaster of April 16-17 have been paid, and the city "is now virtually back on its feet," the National Board of Fire Underwriters said today.

In a general report on the board's "catastrophe plan" Donald B. Sherwood, general auditor, said 3,264 losses had been paid, representing a total loss of $2,777,746. This money has gone toward restoration of businesses and dwellings, repair of which is about complete, Sherwood said.
About 400 additional claims representing the balance of an estimated $32,850,000 loss from explosions remain to be cleared up. The major losses were incurred by Monsanto Chemical Co., and other big industrial properties, and inventories and appraisals can be prepared.
